Learning in Retirement is an educational community of learners who wish to continue learning, expand their horizons and enhance their personal development. This community offers a unique opportunity in which peer learning, collaborative leadership and active member participation are fundamental. The curriculum is chosen, designed and usually led by members.

Membership is open to adults 50 and older living within commuting distance of Carbondale for a fee of $25.00 annually. Individual courses on a wide variety of subjects are usually $10.
